Church Edit announces new seminar venues for 2010

Church Edit has today announced 12 new venues around the UK for the 'Creating a successful church website' seminar.

The seminars provide helpful tips and ideas to churches that are looking to improve their website. For churches that are looking to create their first website, the seminars will give good pointers on what the website can contain.

The seminar lasts about 1 hour and is free to attend. It is open to all ministers, church webmasters and those in the church that are interested in using the internet for the church.
